

TRISHA'S MONTHLY

April 01, 2010

Learning new techniques and ways to step back and look at your work from a beauty industry peer is valuable training time.

Trisha & Laurie trained with Logics educator Steve Waldman for a hands-on cutting & coloring event at Salon Moxi in West Chester March 22.

A Logics artist for over 12 years, Steve has an impressive list of accomplishments which include styling hair for Fashion Week, the Tony Awards, The White House and the Capitol. His work has been seen on television shows, including Seinfeld and The West Wing and in both trade and consumer magazines, including Vogue and Estetica. He also has worked on teams presenting at The Alternative Hair Show & Intercoiffure 2008. Steve is always in demand and has an impressive list of celebrity clients which include Katie Holmes, Al Pacino and Chris Isaak. A highly progressive thinker, Steve has often used unexpected sources to fuel his inspiration. He elaborates, to create shape and color I look everywhere from traditional art genres like Art Nouveau and Art Deco to architectural art; He especially admires the work of Frank Lloyd Wright- he believes he blended form, technology and nature in a way that relates well to the way a modern stylist does hair today.

(picture to the right Trisha Rhoads, Steve Waldman, Sam Lovello & Laurie Piccone.)

Trisha's
S A L O N

www.trishasaloon.com